

Abstract of the Disclosure

Provided are novel methods for the production of nucleic acid libraries having reduced redundancy. Also provided are methods for determination of changes in RNA expression associated with pathological conditions, and physiological or developmental state. Additional aspects provided non-redundant tags or probes produced by the disclosed methods and microarrays incorporating such tags.

5